History and Governance

History and Governance of the University of North Carolina

History of the University of North Carolina

In North Carolina, all the public educational institutions that grant baccalaureate degrees are part of the University of North Carolina. The multi-campus state university encompasses 16 such institutions, as well as the NC School of Science and Mathematics, the nation’s first public residential high school for gifted students. Chartered by the North Carolina General Assembly in 1789, the University of North Carolina was the first public university in the United States to open its doors and the only one to graduate students in the eighteenth century. The first class was admitted in Chapel Hill in 1795. For the next 136 years, the only campus of the University of North Carolina was at Chapel Hill.

Additional institutions of higher education, diverse in origin and purpose, began to win sponsorship from the General Assembly beginning as early as 1877. Five were historically black institutions, and another was founded to educate American Indians. Some began as high schools. Several were created to prepare teachers for the public schools. Others had a technological emphasis. One is a training school for performing artists.

The 1931 session of the General Assembly redefined the University of North Carolina to include three state-supported institutions: the campus at Chapel Hill (now the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill), North Carolina State College (now North Carolina State University at Raleigh), and Woman's College (now the University of North Carolina at Greensboro). The new multi-campus University operated with one board of trustees and one president. By 1969, three additional campuses had joined the University through legislative action: the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, the University of North Carolina at Asheville, and the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

In 1971, legislation was passed bringing into the University of North Carolina the state's ten remaining public senior institutions, each of which had until then been legally separate: Appalachian State University, East Carolina University, Elizabeth City State University, Fayetteville State University, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, North Carolina Central University, the North Carolina School of the Arts (now the University of North Carolina School of the Arts), Pembroke State University (now the University of North Carolina at Pembroke), Western Carolina University, and Winston-Salem State University. In 1985, the NC School of Science and Mathematics was declared an affiliated school of the University; in July 2007, NCSSM by legislative action became a constituent institution of the University of North Carolina. All the schools and universities welcome students of both sexes and all races.

Board of Governors

The UNC Board of Governors is the policy-making body legally charged with "the general determination, control, supervision, management, and governance of all affairs of the constituent institutions." The 32 voting members of the Board of Governors are elected by the General Assembly.
for four-year terms. Former board chairmen and board members who are former governors of North Carolina may continue to serve for limited periods as non-voting members emeriti. The president of the UNC Association of Student Governments or that student's designee is also a non-voting member. Information about the authority granted to the Board of Governors can be found in Section 101 of The Code.

President and General Administration of The University of North Carolina

The chief executive officer of the University is the president. The president is elected by and reports to the Board of Governors. The President’s office is the operations level between the constituent institutions and the Board of Governors. The President has complete authority to manage the affairs and execute the policies of the University of North Carolina and its constituent institutions, subject to the direction and control of the Board of Governors. Information on the authority granted the President can be found in Section 501 of The Code.

Faculty Assembly of The University of North Carolina

The Faculty Assembly of the University of North Carolina is composed of representatives from each of the constituent institutions. The Faculty Assembly gathers and exchanges information on behalf of the faculties represented, and advises and communicates with the Board of Governors, the General Assembly, the President of the University and other governmental agencies concerning the interests of the faculties. The University of North Carolina at Charlotte has five representatives on the faculty assembly.

History and Governance of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte

History of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte

UNC Charlotte is one of a generation of universities founded in metropolitan areas of the United States immediately after World War II in response to rising education demands stimulated by the war and its technology. To serve returning veterans, North Carolina opened 14 evening college centers in communities across the state. The Charlotte Center opened on September 23, 1946, offering evening classes to 278 freshmen and sophomore students in the facilities of Charlotte's Central High School. After three years the state closed the centers, declaring that on-campus facilities were sufficient to meet the needs of returning veterans and recent high school graduates.

Charlotte’s education and community leaders, long aware of the area's unmet needs for higher education, moved to have the Charlotte Center taken over by the city school district and operated as Charlotte College, offering the first two years of college courses. Later, the same leaders asked Charlotte voters to approve a two-cent tax to support the College.

Charlotte College drew students from the city, Mecklenburg County, and from a dozen surrounding counties. The two-cent tax was later extended to all of Mecklenburg County. Ultimately financial support for the college became a responsibility of the State of North Carolina. As soon as Charlotte College was firmly established, efforts were launched to give it a campus of its own.

With the backing of Charlotte business leaders and legislators from Mecklenburg and surrounding counties, land was acquired on the northern fringe of the city and bonds were passed to finance new facilities. In 1961 Charlotte College moved into two new buildings on what was to become a 1,000-acre campus 10 miles from uptown Charlotte.

Three years later, the North Carolina legislature approved bills making Charlotte College a four-year, state-supported college. A year later, the legislature approved bills making Charlotte College a branch of the University of North Carolina.

In the years since, UNC Charlotte has grown at a rate of about 4 percent per year. With an enrollment of over 25,000 students, it is the fourth largest of the 17 institutions that make up the University of North Carolina system.

UNC Charlotte is a comprehensive university offering almost 90 baccalaureate programs, over 60 programs leading to a master’s degree, and 18 programs leading to doctoral degrees. Please see the UNC Charlotte website for a complete, updated listing of degree programs.

In 1995-96, during the celebration of its 50th anniversary as an institution, UNC Charlotte awarded its 50,000th degree. In 2012, it awarded its 100,000th degree. It now boasts more than 120,000 living alumni and adds 4,000 to 4,500 new alumni each year. Students attend UNC Charlotte from nearly every county in North Carolina, nearly every state in the U.S., and over 100 foreign countries. Additional information regarding student demographics including enrollment data, racial and ethnic composition, scholastic information, and the origins of new first-year and transfer students is available from the Office of Institutional Research and their Fact Books.

Institutional Planning

The purpose of institutional planning at UNC Charlotte is to (1) meet the needs for internal planning and decisions at department, college, academic affairs, and University levels; (2) support long-range plans and biennial budget requests submitted to the UNC President’s office; and, (3) evaluate, assess, and enhance institutional achievements. The two-year and five-year cycles in the process correspond to the budget system of the North Carolina General Assembly and the procedures of the UNC Board of Governors, which provides for a five-year plan to be updated every two years. The Institutional Plan for UNC Charlotte includes:

Institutional Vision Statement provides the common framework for what is to be accomplished and who is to be served at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

Institutional Mission Statement is the general statement of educational mission established for the institution by the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina. UNC Charlotte’s Mission Statement is as follows:

Institutional Purpose Statement presents the purpose of UNC Charlotte as established by the Board of Trustees after receiving advice and consultation of the faculty and administration. It provides an elaboration of the mission statement and represents the official posture and practice of the institution. The planning process identifies suggestions for revisions or additions to the purpose statement and the components of the academic plan described are intended to implement.

General Academic Plan summarizes the academic priorities, goals, and objectives for the campus, the action steps and resources to address them, and the measures to ascertain their achievement and effectiveness. This plan includes campus support unit plans and may include subsidiary plans to address specific campus issues such as enrollment plan, staffing plan, facilities plan, outreach plan, and diversity plan.

Institutional Effectiveness Report is the basis for the annual report to the Board of Governors and the General Assembly on the institution’s effectiveness in the areas of student learning and development, faculty development and quality, and progress toward the institutional mission. It draws upon the results of annual assessments of the achievement of institutional goals and objectives, comprehensive self-studies and program evaluations, as well as periodic evaluations of functions and services and occasional specialized studies. For more information contact the Institutional Effectiveness Oversight Committee.

College Plans. Each college develops a plan, informed by the plans of its departments, which articulates the college mission, purpose, priorities, goals, and objectives; describes the action steps and resources needed to address them; and specifies the measures to ascertain their achievement and effectiveness. These plans may include subsidiary plans to address campus and/or college issues.

Department Plans. Each department develops a plan that articulates its mission, purpose, priorities, goals, and objectives; describes the action steps and resources needed to address them; and specifies the measures to ascertain their achievement and effectiveness.

Convocation

The annual State of the University Convocation at which the Chancellor outlines long-term goals and immediate plans and issues is held before the fall semester begins. Additionally, the University Convocation is a chance to recognize new members of the faculty, as well as honoring those entering their 25th year at UNC Charlotte, new and newly-tenured faculty members, and those who have been promoted to full professor this year. Employment at UNC Charlotte

Getting Started

Administrative Assistance

Administrative assistance for EHRA staff members is limited, and demands for administrative time come from all members of the department. Requests for administrative support must be realistic and reasonable. The use of administrative time for private business or social correspondence is prohibited. Professional correspondence, the production of professional papers, and the use of administrative support for affairs of professional societies are acceptable provided University business is given priority. For more information, refer to University Policy 601.3, Administrative Support for Professional Obligations.

Located in the Popp Martin Student Union, Barnes & Noble at UNC Charlotte offers: new and used textbooks and textbook rental (with online ordering and pre-pack services); general interest, “best sellers” and children’s books; school supplies; computer software; greeting cards and gifts; and a large selection of UNC Charlotte apparel, gear and merchandise available.

Disability-Related Resources

Individuals with disabilities who are in need of disability accommodations should notify their employing department. Once an existing employee identifies himself/herself as disabled, Human Resources will work with the employing department/office to provide consultation and assistance on accommodations specific to the employee's disability. The Office of Disability Services also works closely with the Department of Human Resources to ensure appropriate accommodations are provided. For more information, visit the University’s Accessibility website.

Email Accounts

All full- and part-time EHRA staff are issued a campus e-mail account. Email is the official form of communication at the University, and individuals are expected to check their email account regularly. For questions about email, please contact Information and Technology Services.

Employee Assistance Program

The University recognizes that employees experiencing personal problems, including emotional problems, alcohol and drug abuse, and marital problems, should be encouraged to seek professional assistance. To meet this need, the University has a contract with CompPsych. For more information visit the Human Resources website or contact the Employee Relations Manager in the Human Resources Department.

Social Security Number

Disclosure of social security number is required of all employees for purposes of crediting social security accounts with FICA payments and for federal tax purposes. Disclosure is voluntary for other purposes and is requested by UNC Charlotte to perform efficiently its obligations as an institution of higher education. Social security numbers disclosed may be used only for the following purposes:

a) financial management
b) maintenance of employee and student records
c) credit management, including debt collection
d) preparation of identification cards
e) medical records management
f) traffic and parking enforcement
g) administration of fringe benefit programs

Tax Sheltered Annuity Plans

Permanent employees of the University may participate in tax-sheltered programs through payroll deduction. These programs allow employees to exclude a portion of their salary from taxable income for the purchase of an annuity contract. Payment of taxes on this money and on the interest it earns is deferred until the money is withdrawn, presumably at retirement when most people will be in a lower tax bracket. Further details on any of these tax-deferred programs is available from the Benefits Office.

Identification Cards

Identification cards are required for members of the campus community to check out books from the library, secure use of gymnasium facilities, obtain a parking permit, cash checks and provide identification. The form from which the identification card is made is obtained from the Human Resources Department, and the card itself (including a photograph) is prepared in the I.D. Card Office.
located in the Popp Martin Student Union. Cards are issued for a stated period of time or on an indefinite basis depending upon the period of employment.

Office Keys

Office keys are provided through departmental offices. Individuals are encouraged to keep their office accommodations locked when not in use to discourage theft and unwanted entry.

Office Supplies

Supplies are distributed through departmental offices. Procedures for purchasing supplies and equipment can be found in University Policy 601.11, Purchasing Policy.

Parking

Parking on campus requires a permit (virtual or physical). You can purchase a permit at the Parking and Transportation Services Office, or online. Based on the type of permit you buy, parking privileges are assigned to you by your UNCCMyPark account, and verified through license plate information. For questions, contact Parking and Transportation Services.

Employee Regulations and Procedures

Alcohol, Illegal Drugs, and Firearms

State law regulates the possession and use of alcoholic beverages on campus. In addition, the possession and use of alcoholic beverages on campus is governed by University Policy 706, Alcoholic Beverages. That policy sets forth requirements about the types of alcohol permitted, the locations where alcoholic beverages are permitted on campus, the service of alcoholic beverages, and the permits and forms required.

The University considers the use of illegal drugs or alcohol abuse by students, faculty and staff or by others on premises under University control to be unacceptable conduct that adversely affects the educational environment. To remind students, faculty and staff of their responsibilities for maintaining a drug free environment, University Policy 711, Program to Prevent Use of Illegal Drugs and Alcohol Abuse, is distributed throughout the University community each year. Further, the University considers a sound awareness, education, and training program indispensable in combating illegal use of drugs and alcohol abuse, both as a preventive measure and as a remedy.

The University will cooperate fully with law enforcement agencies and will apply appropriate disciplinary procedures should a student, faculty member, or staff member violate criminal statutes with regard to illegal drugs. Violations may subject a student, faculty member or staff member to prosecution and punishment by civil authorities and to disciplinary action by the University. It does not constitute "double jeopardy" for the University to initiate its own disciplinary proceedings for the same offense when the alleged conduct is deemed to affect the interests of the University.
State criminal law generally prohibits the open or concealed possession of firearms and other weapons on the property of any public or private educational institution. For additional information, refer to University Policy 702, Weapons on Campus.

Animals on Campus

The University recognizes that owners of Domestic Animals and Therapy Animals may desire to bring those animals to the campus, users of Service Animals or Service Animals in Training may find it necessary to bring those animals on campus, and feral or wild animals may select the campus landscape as their habitat. However, in consideration of the personal safety and well-being of the UNC Charlotte campus community University Policy 704, Animals on Campus, establishes requirements for accessibility, behavior, and treatment of animals on campus.

Civil and Military Leave

Jury duty and court attendance are classified as civil leave. If a EHRA Staff member is called to serve on a jury or subpoenaed as a witness or required to attend court in connection with official duties, he/she can do so without loss of salary. Military leave is granted to members of the Reserves and National Guard for training, alerts, attendance at Service Schools and active duty status. The supervisor or department head should be notified at the earliest possible date of the need for civil or military leave so that arrangements for work responsibilities can be made. The Human Resources Department should also be contacted prior to departure on military leave.

Communications

Mail and Package Services

Mail and Package Services is a fully operational Postal Contract Station located in the lower level of the Prospector Building, capable of services equivalent to that of a U.S. Post Office. Non-USPS packages (i.e., FedEx, UPS) are processed through Receiving and Stores.

State Courier Service

A courier mail delivery service links most state government agencies including all campuses of the University of North Carolina system. The cost of mailing through the courier is about half the cost of U.S. mail. Individuals are encouraged to use this service for University business whenever possible.

Telecommunications

Telecommunication services are provided by a digital switching system, using the latest digital and fiber optic technology and are tailored to meet the needs of the campus community. Voice mail is provided on each University telephone. If a telephone is provided, information regarding telephone features and functions is available in the Telephone Service Quick Guide for Faculty & Staff that can be requested from Telecommunications.

Faculty and staff have access to an extended local calling area that includes all of the 704 and 980 area codes, as well as portions of the 336, 803, 828 area codes. Long distance calls for University business use the state telephone network and are billed back to the appropriate department by the Telecommunications Department. For more information, refer to University Policy 601.1, University Supplies, Equipment and Materials.

Facsimile Communications
Use of fax machines is limited to University business.

University Publications
Inside UNC Charlotte is a University newsletter published online containing information for faculty and staff. The online newsletter publishes announcements of faculty publications and other professional accomplishments, free want ads, news events on campus, and items of personal interest.

Items submitted should be of professional accomplishments or public service activities worthy of campus-wide notification. Examples of items that should be submitted include: publication of a book or an article in a professional journal, participating in (not just attending) a professional meeting, research activities, public service activities such as speaking engagements to important groups, and humanitarian or human interest activities. Staff are encouraged to submit items about their accomplishments, and many departments designate a person to collect and channel such announcements.

The student publication, Niner Times, is a weekly newspaper; faculty and staff contributions are welcome.

Confidentiality of EHRA Staff Personnel Records
State statutes establish legal requirements concerning the use of EHRA staff personnel records. The staff member has a right to review the contents of his or her personnel files including evaluation files except for pre-employment confidential letters of recommendation and certain medical records. Except in special circumstances provided by law, the University is required to keep confidential all information concerning a faculty member except the following, which is subject to public access:

- Name;
- Age;
- Date of original State employment or appointment to State service;
- The terms of any contract by which the employee is employed whether written or oral, past and current, to the extent that the agency has the written contract or a record of the oral contract in its possession;
- Current position;
- Title;
- Current salary;
- Date and amount of each increase or decrease in salary with that department, agency, institution, commission, or bureau;
- Date and type of each promotion, demotion, transfer, suspension, separation, or other change in position classification within that department, agency, institution, commission, or bureau;
- Date and general description of the reasons for each promotion with that department, agency, institution, commission, or bureau;
- Date and type of each dismissal, suspension, or demotion for disciplinary reasons taken by the department, agency, institution, commission, or bureau. If the disciplinary action was a dismissal, a copy of the written notice of the final decision of the head of the department setting forth the specific acts or omissions that are the basis of the dismissal; and
- The office or department to which the employee is currently assigned.
Conflicts of Interest and Commitment

EHRA staff are encouraged to engage in appropriate outside research or non-research activities if these activities are consonant with the objectives of the University. EHRA staff are required to avoid conflicts of interest and conflicts of commitment in their relationships with outside organizations. Outside activities and financial interests must be arranged so as not to interfere with the primacy of University commitments. For more information, refer to University Policy 102.2, Conflicts of Interest and Commitment.

Duty to Report

The University is obligated to investigate actions undertaken by employees in the performance of their official duties that may be unlawful, improper, or dangerous to the well-being of students, faculty and staff, and to protect those who disclose such actions. University Policy 803, Reporting and Investigation of Suspected Improper Activities and Whistleblower Protection, establishes a mechanism for (A) reporting suspected Improper Activities, (B) initiating investigations of suspected Improper Activities, and (C) protecting members of the University community who report suspected Improper Activities from retaliation.

Members of the University community who have reason to suspect the occurrence of Improper Activities should report those Improper Activities to the appropriate authority following the procedures described in Section V of University Policy 803, Reporting and Investigation of Suspected Improper Activities and Whistleblower Protection. Retaliation against anyone reporting Improper Activities in good faith is prohibited.

“Improper Activities” is defined as actions or failures to act by University employees in the course of their duties that result in:

1) A violation of State or Federal law, rule, or regulation;
2) A serious or substantial violation of University policy or procedure;
3) Fraud;
4) Misappropriation of State resources, including embezzlement;
5) Substantial and specific danger to the public health and safety; or
6) Gross mismanagement, a gross waste of monies, or gross abuse of authority.

Whistleblowers have protection from retaliation under NCGS § 126-85 and University Policy 803, Reporting and Investigation of Suspected Improper Activities and Whistleblower Protection. This Policy establishes a mechanism for (A) reporting suspected Improper Activities, (B) initiating investigations of suspected Improper Activities, and (C) protecting members of the University community who report suspected Improper Activities from retaliation.

Employment of Relatives

Related persons may be concurrently employed by the University, even as members of the same department, except in the case where one related person has responsibility for the direct supervision of the other. In no case can one related person participate in the evaluation of the other. For more information, refer to University Policy 101.4, Concurrent Employment of Related Persons.

In addition, the University is prohibited from soliciting or culminating a contractual procurement relationship with the immediate family member of any employee of the University, although the family member could serve as a subcontractor or supplier to the successful bidder. For more information, refer to University Policy 603.2, Contracting with Relatives of Employees.

Employment Status

EHRA Staff members are University employees who are “exempt” from the State Human Resources Act. This means issues such as longevity pay do not apply as they would for most SHRA employees, who are “subject” to the State Personnel Act.

EHRA Staff positions are administrative, professional, managerial, instructional support, development, and research positions. Most of these positions are “at will” employment. This means the employee serves at the will of the Chancellor and can be terminated without justification. Notice of termination is given according to the policy applicable to the particular category of EHRA Staff position. Some EHRA Staff are hired on term appointments, where a definite ending date is given, and the employee is terminated on that date without further notice. EHRA Staff positions are also normally subject to merit pay increases, as determined by legislation.

University Policy 102.7, Personnel Policies for Designated Employment Exempt from the State Human Resources Act, including Attachment A, explains EHRA Staff appointment in detail. The recruitment procedures for EHRA Staff are available on the Human Resources website.

EHRA Staff employees fall into four different categories: Instructional Support, Research Support, Information Technology, and Senior Academic and Administrative Officers (referred to as SAAO). University Policy 102.9, Senior Academic and Administrative Officers, refers to SAAO Tier 1 and Tier 2 positions, and University Policy 102.7 applies to all other EHRA Staff positions.

EHRA non-faculty Instructional, Research, and Information Technology (IRIT) positions deliver the core-mission activities of the University: creating and disseminating knowledge through direct instruction, research, and public service; or performing professional-level duties that are integral to, and uniquely supportive of, that work. Such positions must be substantially engaged in the regular academic, educational, research, or public-service/extension activities of the University. Such positions require the exercise of professional expertise and discretion in determining the nature and content of the instructional-, educational-, research-, or public-service-related activities, and in evaluating the effectiveness of such activities, and/or involve significant and independent interaction with participants in the University’s instructional, educational, research, or public-service programs.

SAAO Tier 1 Positions are our highest ranked positions at the University and include such positions as the Chancellor, Provost, Vice Chancellors, Deans, University Attorney, etc. A complete list of these positions is available in University Policy 102.9. Appointment to these positions may require Board of Trustees’ and/or Board of Governors’ approval.

SAAO Tier 2 Positions are administrative and development positions that usually have campus-wide authority or responsibility. Examples include Associate and Assistant Vice Chancellors/Provost, Associate and Assistant Deans, Registrar, Controller, various directors such as: Director of Human Resources, Director of Financial Services, Director of Purchasing, Director of Alumni Affairs, Director of Financial Aid, Athletic Director, etc. Although the Board of Governors must approve adding a new SAAO Tier 2 position, the Chancellor has the authority to hire and delegates this responsibility to the Vice Chancellors.
There are a few differences in the benefits for each of these categories.

For details, see University Policy 703, Environmental Health and Safety. This policy delegates responsibilities for compliance, implementation, and planning and financing.

Electronic Communication Systems
University electronic communication accounts are provided and supported by the State of North Carolina to support the missions of the University.

The purpose of University Policy 304, Electronic Communication Systems, is to ensure the appropriate use of the University’s electronic communication systems (ECS) by its students, faculty, and staff. ECS are tools provided by the University to complement traditional methods of communication and to improve education and administrative efficiency. Users have the responsibility to use these resources in an efficient, effective, ethical, and lawful manner. Use of the University’s electronic communication systems evidences the user’s agreement to be bound by this Policy. Violations of this Policy may result in restriction of access to the University email system and/or other appropriate disciplinary action.

While personal use of University ECS accounts is not prohibited by law, and while the University does not routinely monitor any user’s ECS content, privacy of personal ECS content residing on or transmitted through University equipment is not assured. Because the University is a State entity, all data transmitted or stored using ECS capabilities are subject to the requirements of North Carolina’s Public Records law, which generally requires that any person may have access to State records. Courts may order the production of University records, including ECS records, in connection with litigation. Appropriate law enforcement and other officials may, consistent with law, have access to documents for purposes of investigating allegations of violations of law or of University policy. Given such considerations, but subject to the requirements of the North Carolina Public Records Act, no University faculty member, staff member, or student should use a University ECS account with the expectation that any particular ECS content, whether personal or business-related, will be private.

Non-Discrimination

Discriminatory Personal Conduct
The University seeks to promote a fair, humane, and respectful environment for its faculty, staff, and students. To that end, University policy explicitly prohibits sexual harassment, racial harassment, and all other personal conduct which inappropriately asserts that sex, race, color, ethnicity, sexual orientation, religion, veteran status, disability, age, or ancestry are relevant to consideration of individual worth or individual performance. The same policies provide procedures for the informal or formal resolution of instances where such behavior is suspected or alleged. The policies have received wide distribution and are available for inspection in all administrative offices on campus, as well as online at https://legal.uncc.edu/legal-topics/nondiscrimination

Equal Employment Opportunity
University Policy 101.5, Equal Employment Opportunity, provides that UNC Charlotte recognizes a moral, economic, and legal responsibility to ensure equal employment opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, color, religion, gender (except when gender is a bona fide occupational qualification), sexual orientation, age, national origin, physical or mental disability (except when making accommodations for physical or mental disabilities would impose undue hardship on the conduct of University business), or veteran status. The policy’s prohibition against discrimination on the basis of gender includes actual or perceived gender identity or gender expression.

This policy is a fundamental necessity for the continued growth and development of this University. Nondiscriminatory consideration shall be afforded applicants and employees in all employment actions including recruiting, hiring, training, promotion, placement, transfer, layoff, leave of absence, and termination. All personnel actions pertaining to either academic or nonacademic positions to include such matters as compensation, benefits, transfers, layoffs, return from layoffs, University-sponsored training, education, tuition assistance, and social and recreational programs shall be administered according to the same principles of equal opportunity. Promotion and advancement decisions shall be made in accordance with the principles of equal opportunity, and the University shall, as a general policy, attempt to fill existing position vacancies from qualified persons already employed by the University. Outside applicants may be considered concurrently at the discretion of the selecting official. The University has established reporting and monitoring systems to ensure adherence to this policy of nondiscrimination.

Affirmative Action
UNC Charlotte’s philosophy concerning equal employment opportunity is affirmed and promoted in the University's Affirmative Action Plan. To facilitate UNC Charlotte's affirmative action efforts on behalf of disabled workers, veterans (including veterans of the Vietnam Era), individuals who qualify and wish to benefit from the Affirmative Action Plan are invited and encouraged to identify themselves. This information is provided voluntarily, and refusal of employees to identify themselves as veterans or disabled persons will not subject them to discharge or disciplinary action. Unless otherwise required by law, the information obtained will be kept confidential in the manner required by law, except that supervisors and managers may be informed about restrictions on the work or duties of disabled persons and about necessary accommodations.

For more information about equal employment opportunity and affirmative action, refer to University Policy 101.5, Equal Employment Opportunity.
Outside Employment

It is assumed that EHRA staff members are full-time employees of UNC Charlotte for the duration of their appointments. Therefore, University policy precludes an EHRA staff member's having an additional full-time position elsewhere. For more information, refer to University Policy 102.1, External Professional Activities of Faculty and Other Professional Staff Exempt from the State Personnel Act, or the University of North Carolina Board of Governors’ Regulation 300.2.1[R].

Participation in Politics

Although EHRA staff are private citizens free to engage in political activities, the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina has enacted regulations (UNC Policy Manual, Chapter 300.5) to avoid inappropriate conflict between the obligations of University employment and certain activities for University employees related to governmental and political activities. For more information, refer to University Policy 102.3, Political Activities of Faculty and Staff Exempt from the State Personnel Act. Any faculty member or staff member exempt from the State Personnel Act contemplating serving in an elective or appointive public office, or becoming a candidate, should contact the Office of Legal Affairs well before filing as a candidate for or assuming such office.

Participation in partisan politics by members of the UNC Charlotte community is neither encouraged nor discouraged. Faculty members working on political campaigns or issues are not to use campus mail or other services (printing, computer use, etc.) in doing so. For more information, see UNC Board of Governors Guidelines Concerning Use of University of North Carolina Resources for Political Campaign Activities.

The University name, seal, letterhead and all supplies and materials of the University must be used only in the exercise of official responsibilities in behalf of the University. For example, it is improper to use UNC Charlotte stationery for private purposes, or to use an automobile owned by the University for private business or pleasure. For more information, refer to University Policy 601.1, University Supplies, Equipment, and Materials.

Publications and Printing Services

All University printing must be done on campus at Copy and Print Services unless the shop is unable to do the required work or cannot meet the required deadline. Every exception must be approved for off-campus contracting by the Director of Publications and Printing, and processed through Materials Management. For more information, refer to University Policy 605.6, Publications.

Racial Harassment

UNC Charlotte is committed to ensuring an environment for all students and employees that is fair, humane and respectful - an environment that supports and rewards student and employee performance on the basis of relevant considerations such as ability and effort. Behaviors that inappropriately assert a person’s race, ethnicity or national origin as relevant to student or employee performance are damaging to the desired environment. Racial harassment by any member of the University community is a violation of both law and University policy and will not be tolerated in the University community.

Racial harassment is defined here as any verbal or physical behavior that occurs on the University campus or on premises under University control, that stigmatizes or victimizes an individual on the basis of race, ethnicity, or ancestry, and that involves an express or implied threat to or interference with any facet of an individual's University life or creates an intimidating, hostile or demeaning environment for that individual in the University community.

If you are aware of incidents of racial harassment at UNC Charlotte or if you are a victim, you are urged to take action by contacting a University mediator or the affirmative action officer in the Office of Human Resources. Students who feel that they may be victims of racial harassment may seek redress by contacting the Dean of Students Office, a University mediator, or the affirmative action officer.

Relationships between Students and Employees

UNC Charlotte prohibits a University employee from participating in the instruction, evaluation or supervision of a student with whom there is an amorous or familial relationship. For more information, refer to University Policy 101.3, Relationships between Students and Faculty Members or Other University Employees.

Retirement Procedures and Regulations

For details and regulations regarding retirement, refer to University Policy 101.6, Retirement Procedures and Regulations.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment by any member of the University community is a violation of both law and University policy and will not be tolerated in the University community. Sexual harassment of students or employees is a particularly sensitive issue and as such will be dealt with promptly by the University administration.

Employees

Harassment on the basis of sex is a violation of Section 703 of Title VII, which states that: "Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal and physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when --

1) submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment,

2) submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting such individual, or

3) such conduct has the purpose or effect of substantially interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment."

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal, nonverbal, or physical conduct of a sexual nature by a University employee, by another student, or by a third party, constitutes sexual harassment if such conduct is sufficiently severe, persistent, or pervasive to limit the student's ability to participate in or benefit from an education program or activity, or create a hostile or abusive educational environment. "Quid pro quo" sexual harassment is equally unlawful. It occurs when a University employee explicitly or implicitly conditions a student's participation in an education program or activity, or bases an educational decision, on the student's submission to unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal, nonverbal, or physical conduct of a sexual nature. "Quid pro quo" harassment occurs whether the student resists and suffers the threatened harm or submits and thus avoids the threatened harm.

If you are aware of incidents of sexual harassment at UNC Charlotte or if you are a victim, you are urged to take action by contacting a University mediator or the affirmative action officer. Students who feel that they may be victims of sexual harassment may seek redress by contacting a university mediator, or the affirmative action officer. For more information, refer to University Policy 502, Sexual Harassment Policy and Grievance Procedures and, for cases in which a student is involved, Interim Regulations on Student Sexual Misconduct Complaints.

For more information, refer to University Policy 707, Smoking on University Property.

Space Reservations

When planning events it is important to consider individuals with disabilities who may attend the events. Accessible planning should include the faculty, staff, students and campus visitors who may need accessible features in order to participate in events. A request for event accommodations should be addressed early to ensure that services can be set-up. If you have questions about how to make your event accessible or receive a request for an accommodation, contact the Office of Disability Services or visit the University’s Accessibility website.

Responsibility for scheduling all exterior campus space, space in the Cone University Center, and all other indoor space on campus which is not Instructional Space, Assigned Space or Residential Space (as defined in University Policy 601.6, Scheduling University Facilities) is delegated to the University Reservations and Event Services Office, located in Cone Center. Contact this office for a copy of the scheduling procedures. Responsibility for the scheduling and use of Residential Space is delegated to the Director of Housing and Residential Life.

Travel

The North Carolina State Budget Office regulates UNC Charlotte travel activity. Standard per diem and mileage rates are established by the State Budget Office.

UNC Charlotte's travel procedures are designed to ensure compliance with regulations, provide the traveler and the traveler's supervisor with a trip planning tool, guarantee the lowest cost to the institution and provide the department fund manager with financial management information.

Listed below are the procedures for arranging travel for members of the faculty and staff:

1) Complete a Travel Authorization form including appropriate approvals and forward to the Financial Services Travel Section two weeks prior to departure date. If the mode of transportation is air, lower fares and savings to the institution can be obtained if the authorization procedures are completed 30 or more days in advance of the departure date.

2) If an advance of funds is needed for the trip, the traveler should prepare a Check Request in the amount needed, but not to exceed the estimated cost of travel, and submit the request with the Travel Authorization. Travel advances are released to the traveler five days prior to departure. Travel advances are deducted from travel expense reimbursements when filed.

3) A Travel Reimbursement form must be completed and submitted to the Travel Section in Financial Affairs no later than 30 days after completion of travel. Timely filing of travel reimbursement forms will speed up reimbursements to the traveler as well as provide the department fund manager with actual costs associated with the trip.

Travel regulations and procedural changes are communicated to the campus at the beginning of each fall semester through travel seminars conducted by Financial Services. In addition, the Vice Chancellor for Business Affairs provides other information to the campus community through written memoranda and items on the Inside UNC Charlotte website. See University Policy 602.7, Travel Authorization and Reimbursement.

An employee of the University who experiences a serious and prolonged medical condition and who has exhausted or is about to exhaust all available compensatory time, sick and vacation/annual/bonus leave may apply for or be nominated to receive additional leave transferred from the vacation/annual leave account of another employee. The medical condition may be a condition of the employee or a family member of the employee. The intent of the policy is to allow employees to assist one another in case of a crisis involving a serious medical condition. This policy is not intended to apply to incidental, routine, short-term medical conditions. For more information, refer to University Policy 101.14, Voluntary Shared Leave Program.

Workers' Compensation

North Carolina's Workers' Compensation law provides that University employees injured on the job will, subject to statutory requirements, receive specified medical and other benefits paid by the University. The Student Health Center is the primary contact for University employees hurt on the job. These employees shall be directed to the Health Center for initial and follow-up treatment. The follow-up treatment may either be at the Health Center, an appropriate specialist's office, or a physician deemed appropriate by both parties.

Through Distance Education/Extension, courses for academic credit are offered at off-campus sites and via the Internet to serve citizens who live beyond easy commuting distance of the campus. Options for delivery include sending a UNC Charlotte faculty member to an off-campus location to teach a course in person, using one of two state-wide interactive video networks to link a UNC Charlotte faculty member on the campus in Charlotte with students attending class at remote locations throughout the state, and delivering courses online via the Internet. The Office also has responsibility for offering Summer School, which includes courses offered on the campus, at off-campus sites, and online.
